Hi LoveTribe,

On a hike today wearing a beautiful Johnny Was tunic (many beautiful ones in stock) with my friend Karen on her birthday (below in our $38 sweater special).

Sometimes we are just being with the beauty around us, including an abundance of wildflowers and green (at Phoenix Lake). And much of the time we are "talking story" without judgement or blame, we guide each other to see our stories with a larger view.

Good News!! Thanks to many of you, we won "Best of", for best new clothing store in the East Bay And Best place to shop on Mother's Day AND tied for Best downtown shop in Ashland! Yeah!!

And New clothing we have! (and jewelry, shoes, accessories, purses, gifts). And more coming in daily!

Annual Easter basket Egg discount & Matzah Hunt

Every year we have fun with a basket full of eggs with discounts from 10-70% off inside each egg. You pick the egg as you are checking out to find your discount. And we hide the Afikomen (matzah) somewhere in the shop and the one that finds it gets to choose a gift from an assortment of possibilities. It is hidden on March 30 until it is found or until April 7. The basket of eggs will be available to pick from Friday through Easter Sunday, although it is behind the counter Fri & Sat and you'll need to ask as the basket is only offered to the public on Easter Sunday.

Honoring my friends ...

Three of my close friends including Dana, my BFF (best friend forever), transitioned, transformed, died ... or as Wavy says, moved to a new locale, all in very different and remarkable ways.

I will miss being, adventuring, hugging, talking and laughing with them.

Dana Harrison

Dana emailed me last month, 2 weeks before she made her remarkable transition (or transformation as Hameed felt, (the founder of the Ridwan School, Diamond Heart approach) that Dana was currently the executive director of. She said in her email, sit down to read this, and then proceeded to say she had just found out she was dying ... fast. That she had between 1 and 2 weeks left. And that she was FINE, had no regrets, wasn't afraid and was ready. And she was.

She directed (as always) the entire passage and it was a remarkable 2 weeks. Clare in the middle above was my daily partner in holding her transition and afterwards. Nothing like BFFs!. Dana lived a remarkable full life, making huge contributions in all the things that were important to her ... business, empowering others, the arts, theater, community and spirit. A strong, authentic, intelligent, creative, playful FUN goddess. Whahhhhhhhh! ... just sayin' ... big missing

Laszlo Barry

My BFF Joannes' friend and soulmate (as well as my friend), left while he was out helping a friends at his restaurant. He went outside and died instantly. That was an easy exit for him and we're happy for that but extremely hard for his friends/soulmates.

This is a picture I took of them last time I was with them (in New York or I'd be with them daily!)

He was generous, fun, curious, loyal and loving. A Hungarian prince with amazing life stories and a great story teller. He generously brought/made great food for us daily, taking good care of Joanne, me and friends.

Susan Perl

Susan, a remarkable fierce warrioress with piercing intellect and huge heart who left every one she touched a better person. Fortunately that included me. Then there was her contributions as a marketing exec for great companies bringing beauty and awareness through the marketing. She left last week after a 4 year battle dance with cancer, getting herself, daughter, son and husband ready for her transition. Also a friend in New York that I didn't see much but when we did ... beautiful and deep love.

As Susan said, LOVE doesn't die, people die. She said if you couldn't let her go, let the love go by giving it away. By loving more.

All three of their unique generosities, creativity and spirit has made my life fuller and will continue to ... as I love more.

As always ... Being Fearless - Choosing Love. xoxo Devi
